Pat Grosse

The Grant Writing Coaching School was devised by Pat Grosse, an expert grant writer who has worked on BOTH sides of the funding fence in the UK And Australia. Pat has designed and developed guidelines, assessed applications – from capital infrastructure to small business and community projects and supported applicants to put their applications together. She has managed a very large training fund and has been successful in getting a better deal for her clients on multiple occasions.

Introducing the Grant Writing Coaching School

The Grant Writing Coach School is a training, coaching and mentoring program for you if you are an aspiring grant writer or a grant writer who wants to take your skills to the next level to win more grants for your organisation or clients.

It is for you if you :

- Want to become a grant writer with successful grants, large and small, in your inventory sooner rather than later
- Want to know what look out for so you can tailor your applications to get your message across clearly
- Are looking for a system for approaching grant applications and consistently apply a winning formula
- Are willing to put in some homework and brainstorm ideas and results with other grant writing students
- Appreciate the value of a coach, supporting you through your first applications, increasing your chances of success - and celebrating your wins

Learn the following techniques that have attracted millions of dollars of funding:

- Unpacking guidelines so that you don't miss something important that could cost you time and dollars
- Step-by-step checklist of the grant writing process
- How to work out what the funder is looking for and show them the responses they are looking for
- Putting together a winning project plan and budget
- Demonstrating to the funder that their funds will be in good hands
- A plan to measure your project key success indicators
- Strategic grant writing – working with clients for long term success

PLUS access BONUS resources we make available only to our students
